WRECK OF THE SCHOONER RANDALL

The following description of the wreck of the schooner Randall off Hatteras last week was written by Mrs. Caviller, the wife of the captain who was in the wreck:

Mrs. Caviller, wife of Capt. Caviller, of the schooner Randall, which arrived at the home of her mother, Mrs. H. S. Polk, in Park View, yesterday from Cape Hatteras. Mrs. Caviller has been through quite a thrilling experience since that vessel left Portsmouth on August 15th. She says they had fair weather until the night of the 16th, when the vessel ran in the West Indian hurricane off Cape Hatteras. She sprang a leak at 10 o'clock Thursday night, the 16th. The men worked at the pumps, both hand and steam, until 4 o'clock in the morning. The sails were all blown away and the vessel was broken. The cabin stove in and half full of water. The captain decided to run on the beach, and, if possible, save his crew. She struck at 5:15 on the evening of August 16th, and in an hour all were safe on shore, having been taken off by the beachers. The wreck of the Randall is now on the beach, and the captain and his crew are now in the city. Mrs. Caviller says that the vessel was not a native of Portsmouth, as has been stated. She counts many friends in the city by the sea. She will stay here until fully recuperated. Captain Caviller left last night for New York.

CHICKEN THIEVES SHOT AT

Chicken thieves visited the premises of Mr. N. B. Elmore, on Court street, Tuesday night, and carried off quite a number of fine fowl. Mr. Elmore was awakened by the noise made by the chickens. He went to a window and shot several times at what he supposed was the thief.

There evidently must have been more than one of them. During the shooting the colored people on Court street saw a man jump out of Mr. Elmore's lot and come out on Court street. He did not run, but stood there for a moment, were gone, showing that there must have been more than one.

It has only been a few nights since Mr. Elmore ran some one out of his house that had entered by a window.

FUNERAL OF LITTLE EDDIE STEWART

The funeral of little Eddie Stewart, who was drowned on Tuesday while bathing off Hatteras, took place yesterday afternoon from the residence of his parents, on North street, near Court street. The funeral was attended by the youth of Park View, with whom he was quite popular. The boys' Glee Club sang a hymn in his honor. The funeral was held at 2 o'clock.

Mr. Lowenberg says that the work of remodeling Hotel Portsmouth has been commenced. All the work, etc., are being made and a quantity of other work is being done. On Monday work will be commenced on the entrance to the store adjoining Mr. Rosenbaum's, who will occupy both stores. Mr. H. Buff will occupy the store that Rosenbaum vacates. His store will be used for the entrance to the hotel and entrance. The work of remodeling the building will be pushed ahead as rapidly as possible.
